Is Life Insurance Expensive?

Tim Gleason, Life Agent

The fact is, term life insurance is very affordable and inexpensive, but sadly most people don't have enough coverage. For example, a healthy, preferred risk 30 year old male, who is a non-tobacco user, can buy $500,000 face amount of a 10-year level term life insurance policy for only about $15 per month in premium.

Life has a habit of getting very busy – from raising a family, to buying a home, to building a business or a career. We can procrastinate taking care of a fundamental insurance coverage that protects our dreams for the ones we love – LIFE INSURANCE! Start the New Year 2017 out right – life insurance for debt protection, business buy out, family income, college funding, and more.
